SAPIRO MADE
BIG PROFITS
REED STATESSenator Outlines Ford
Defense in Libel
Action to Jury

Detroit, Mich., March 18—(AP)—The thousands of dollars Aaron Sapiro was alleged to have obtained from the cooperative associations he organized were listed for the jury today by Senator James A. Reed in the million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The senator, who is defending the automobile manufacturer against Sapiro, who claims his reputation was injured by stories printed in Ford's publication, the Dearborn Independent, was hurrying to complete his opening plea. He showed irritation at frequent interruptions on the part of the plaintiff's attorney, William H. Gallagher, and insisted he was leaving the corners at every opportunity.

Told of Collections
"Bearing in mind Sapiro's frequent declarations of no desire for large remuneration in organizing these cooperative associations among farmers," said the senator, "I want to tell you of some of the collections he made."

The largest amount obtained, according to Mr. Reed, was $142,000 from the Tri-State Tobacco Association and the next largest figure was $48,000 from the Burley Tobacco Association.

It appeared at noon recess that Reed would be unable to complete his opening plea until late afternoon at best and perhaps not until Monday.

Controlled Tobacco Assn.
"We will show you," said the senator, "that the Burley Tobacco Association was controlled absolutely by Mr. Sapiro and his associates. At various times in Minneapolis and other cities he mentioned Robert Bingham as the big factor of the movement."

William H. Gallagher interrupted the senator and asked to the judge law regarding an opening statement, declaring the defense attorney was not confining himself to a statement of fact.

Gallagher quoted a ruling of the supreme court of Michigan, Judge Raymond said he had had this opinion in mind when he warned the attorneys at the opening of the trial as to their statements. However, he said because of the grand number of libels charged, he had given them some leeway.

Both sides had violated the rule of opening statement, he said, and he believed he had shown no unfairness in his rulings.

Will Recite Failures.
"Mr. Sapiro said that never had one of his associations failed," said Senator Reed, continuing, "We will show that several associations in California and other parts of the country failed."

"As to the California Fruit & Apple Growers, Sapiro drew the articles of incorporation for them. While the firm was under this name, Sapiro and his associates drew $80,000 in fees."

Gallagher objected to detailing such matters as salaries and organization details as having nothing to do with the case.

Constant clashes occurred between Reed and Gallagher who feared, he said, the jury might be unduly affected by the statements of the defense attorney. The frequent interruptions seemed to worry the senator who was anxious to leave this afternoon for Washington where he had called a meeting of the senate investigating committee.

NACHUSANS HELD ON CHARGES OF
CHICKEN THEFTS

Paul Wedekind and Frank Sweitzer Arrested
Last Eve

Paul Wedekind and Frank Sweitzer, residing in Nachusa township, east of Eldena, were placed under arrest last evening by Sheriff Ward Miller and taken to the county jail, where charges of grand larceny were preferred against both men. Both men are said to have admitted stealing a flock of chickens belonging to a neighbor, Rheinhold Lerche last week.

The poultry was located on the Wedekind and Sweitzer farms. The men were held under $500 bonds each when taken before Justice Martin J. Gannon and will await the action of the April grand jury.

Wedekind is alleged to be an old offender in this particular line of thievery. Last spring he was arrested for the theft of several chickens from a flock owned by Roy Avey, who was a tenant on one of the Crawford farms east of the city and was a neighbor of Wedekind. For this offense Wedekind paid a heavy fine and was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail. He was released before his term expired.

Sweitzer is receiving a blind pension from the county and is the father of six children. He furnished bonds in the sum of $500 this morning, which were signed by Ed Lenox of this city and was released. Wedekind was making an effort to furnish bonds at noon today and was still being held at the county jail.

Sheriff Miller has received many complaints this spring of chicken thefts and has instructed farmers and poultry raisers to shoot to kill, where thieves are discovered looting flocks.

FORMER BRITISH NAVY OFFICER IS PLACED IN PRISON

Charged With Illicitly
Possessing Secret
Documents

London, Mar. 18—(AP)—England was showing great interest today in the arrest and detention without the privilege of giving bail, of the brilliant former naval officer, Lieutenant Commander Colin Mayers. He is charged with the admiralty with illicitly possessing official documents, among them plans of Great Britain's largest submarine.

So important was the case regarded that the Director of Public Prosecutions will conduct the case for the admiralty when Mayers is arraigned a week hence. He was arrested yesterday at the request of the Admiralty.

Mayers was in the Bow Street police court for a week. Meanwhile, the naval intelligence department will go through a quantity of technical correspondence which has a bearing on a charge against Mayers, who voluntarily retired from the navy last January and had been employed by the submarine department of the Admiralty, Limited, builders of war craft and ordnance.

It is believed that the Admiralty was fearful of a disclosure of secrets regarding its largest submarine, the X-1. Mayers was charged with having possession of the plans of the X-1 and the O-1. The X-1 was launched in June, 1923 and when completed will have cost 5,000,000 pounds sterling. It is 350 feet in length and has four large guns in armored turrets. The caliber of these guns and the number of torpedoes and other details of the craft have been kept secret.

Mayers, who was born in British Guiana, is 38 years old. He entered the navy in 1907. Since 1922 he has commanded consecutively three submarines. He had a brilliant war career.

LIFE IN PRISON

Gov. Smith Commuted
Death Sentence at Last Minute

Ossining, N. Y., March 18—(AP)—Harry W. Cowan, Brooklyn murderer who escaped the electric chair through executive clemency, faces a life in which the sense of light, hearing, taste and smell will play no part.

Two other murderers, Joseph Fryla and Joseph Provenzano, with whom he was sentenced to die, were electrocuted at Sing Sing prison last night. Cowan's condition is the result of a self-inflicted wound in which he contended was a suicide pact with his sweetheart, Edith Burton. He was found unconscious Dec. 28, 1925 with a bullet wound in his head and lying over her dead body. A jury found him guilty of murder.

Governor Smith in granting commutation to life imprisonment said he was guided by Cowan's pitiful condition and a letter from the jury and district attorney who convicted him, asking for clemency.

Mrs. Rodney Smith of Pohn was here Thursday afternoon shopping.

The photographer caught them during the first sessions of the federal court at Detroit which is hearing Sapiro's claim.

John Brewer of Amboy was the victim of a strange accident Wednesday night. He had finished dinner and had gone out on the porch to eat a pop corn ball. A doctor was immediately summoned and in order to relieve the situation, was forced to push the piece of pop corn down the trachea into the lung cavity.

He regained consciousness after about three-quarters of an hour, but it will be necessary to have an x-ray taken to determine how best to remove the pop corn, unless it dissolves itself.

MATTER OF GASES

League of Nations is So Informed in Letter from U. S.

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Although the American government frowns on the use of the poison gas in warfare, it has informed the League of Nations that it does not propose to leave itself unprotected against this new weapon of destruction.

While the setting forth of this position in a note made public abroad created considerable comment in Geneva, yesterday the state department here appeared to attach no significance to the document, which was regarded more in the light of a reiteration of the position frequently taken by the United States that if the arms agreement is reached there is to be no international supervision of the armaments so limited.

The memorandum turned a deaf ear to the suggestion that nations should discontinue their interest in chemical products because chemical factories could be used as agencies of war. A great majority of chemical products that can be used for military purposes, it added, are essential to peace time needs.

The Washington government also expressed its opposition to the proposal to ban, as a crime, any military or civilian drill including airplane drill in the use of poison gas and bacteriology.

Galesburg, Ill., Mar. 18—(AP)—Earl Main, 17, junior in the high school at Williamsfield, near here, killed himself last night. He had used a rifle and shot himself in the head. He was a brilliant student.

Friends said he had been worrying about a part he had in a school play to have been given tonight. Relatives doubted if this was the cause, however. It was expected that a search of his belongings, delayed until the coroner could reach Williamsfield over muddy roads from here, might indicate the reason for his act.

Emerson of Oregon, and Harry L. Heer of Galena for the nomination on the Republican ticket for re-election.

The following delegates and alternates were selected by a special committee, composed of Robert W. Sterling and Edward Zoeller of Dixon and John W. Banks of Compton, their report being unanimous adopted:

Judge Harry Edwards was called upon for a few remarks and told the committee members that the county central committee of Jo Davies said Ogle counties in session Wednesday and Thursday had instructed their delegates for the three present incumbents for re-election.

He was arrested in a Brooklyn rooming house on information given police that he knew something about a mail robbery.

Described "Robbery"
At headquarters he said he and five companions whom he refused to name, at noon on August 23, 1923, boarded a mail car of the Chicago-St. Louis express of the Chicago & Alton shortly after it had pulled out of the Alton station and subdued two mail clerks by force of arms.

Rendered helpless by tears the clerks, he said, at the point of guns were forced to unlock their cage and permit the robbers to escape with two mail sacks containing $300,000.

Although the record of such a robbery, but it was recalled that the Illinois Central Panama Limited was robbed at Paxton, Ill., in 1921 and the porter of the train killed.

Buhl said he and one of his companions with $50,000 each as their share became uneasy and hid the money under a gravestone in a cemetery in Bismarck, N. D. Buhl said he was too frightened ever to return there. He believes his companion never did either.

Prepared to search St. Mary's Cemetery in Bismarck, the police there forbade the public to enter.

Lived in Bismarck
A man named Buhl answering description of the Brooklyn man was recalled in Bismarck as a resident of the city in 1923.

Buhl, according to police, served six months in Pennsylvania's Eastern State penitentiary for defrauding a Philadelphia hotel and was also in the Railway, N. J., reformatory for passing stolen checks. He was a clerk at Elizabeth, N. J., until a few weeks ago he said. He was born in Newark.

NO RECORD AT ALTON
Alton, Ill., Mar. 18—(AP)—No record, official or otherwise, could be found here today of a $300,000 train robbery on August 23, 1923, to which Fred Buhl, Jr., is said to have confessed at New York Thursday. Local postal authorities and police had no knowledge of such a robbery and newspaper men knew nothing of it. No such robbery of a Chicago & Alton train ever has been known here, authorities said.

Buhl, in his confession, indicates some knowledge of Alton. His story of being boarded the train at Union station here, and holding up mail clerks a mile east of Alton, three miles from here. The section a mile east of Alton, said Buhl to have been the scene of the robbery, is the site of a settlement, Federal, where in 1923 a great lead smelting plant, this section is fairly well populated and for such a helpup to have been the tracks for some distance.

Point Out Defects
Local police pointed out however that for the bandits to have held up the mail car after overpowering the crew, as Buhl related, would have required the bandits to have the part of the bandits to accomplish the job before the train reached East Alton, three miles from here. The section a mile east of Alton, said Buhl to have been the scene of the robbery, is the site of a settlement, Federal, where in 1923 a great lead smelting plant, this section is fairly well populated and for such a helpup to have been the tracks for some distance.

Belvidere Man Shot
Wife and Himself

Belvidere, Ill., March 18—(AP)—John Carlson, 60, and his wife, were found dead in their home last night.

A daughter, Alice, discovered the bodies upon returning home after being out all evening.

Police believe the couple quarreled and that Carlson shot his wife as she ran from him. A full shot gun charge entered her back. Carlson then apparently lifted the body from the living room floor and carried it to a bed room where it was found. Carlson's body was found in the kitchen. Police said he had placed the muzzle of the gun below his chin and pulled the trigger.

Two were known to be injured at Deight and 8 to 10 injured at Mountain View.

CLERK'S TALE

New York, March 18—(AP)—Little Frederick Buhl, Jr., a clerk who paddled out his undersized stature with clothes that gained him the sobriquet of the "Millionaire Kid" and who held a group of full sized policemen in a ring of spell bound attention last night with his dramatic tale of train robbery in Alton, Ill., was today in the peculiar situation of being able to tell a good "crime story" with no one to believe him.

Indications were, Brooklyn police said, that in spite of his thrilling confession of fear gas bombs, aliases, five accomplices, shots, mail bags and $300,000 loot, buried in a grave yard at Bismarck, N. D., little Freddie Buhl would be a free man tonight.

No record of any train robbery near Alton, Ill., on Aug. 23, 1923 was found after detailed search, postal inspectors said positively today.

"Pathological Liar"
The truth of the matter is, according to Dr. A. A. Brill, psychologist, who was called into the case, the boy is a "pathological liar."

"There are many cases like this," he added.

He was arrested in a Brooklyn rooming house on information given police that he knew something about a mail robbery.

RECALL OLD ROBBERY

Champaign, Ill., Mar. 18—(AP)—Confessions of Frederick Buhl, Jr., the "Millionaire Kid", made today in New York City, parallel closely the holdup in 1921 of an Illinois Central mail train near Paxton, Ill., 25 miles north of here.

A fast working band of professional mail bandits, none of whom was ever captured alive, dynamited the mail car of the New Orleans Special postal clerks, burned the interior of the car, and sacked it.

The next morning, the body of a negro, shot dead, was found about 15 miles east of Paxton, on the road to Danville. He was suspected to have been one of the bandits, shot by the battling postal clerks.

Was Cleverly Planned

The robbery was a cleverly planned, rapidly executed affair. Two members of the gang boarded the south bound train at Kankakee, as passengers. South of Kankakee they crawled forward over the roofs of the car and held up the engineer and fireman.

They brought the train to a stop at 9:30 o'clock in the evening at a bridge over a creek which was high with a spring freshet. The engine and mail car rested south of the creek, the passenger coaches were at the north.

The remainder of the gang, with automobiles waiting, lay in wait at the little bridge.

Clerks Put Up Fight

The bandits tried to run the car, but the mail clerks put up a furious battle. The bandits threw dynamite bombs, but failed to obtain entrance until one bomb went through a window of the car and exploded inside. That set the coach afire and the clerk had to surrender. They were unarmed, but the gangsters removed every sack of mail, threw them out in the ditch, and escaped with all the registered mail.

The governor's office never made the exact sum public, but estimates placed the total loot at $300,000.

St. Patrick's Day Banquet a Success

The St. Patrick's Day banquet sponsored by the Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor of the Grace Evangelical church last evening was a real success. A three-course dinner was served after which a splendid program under the direction of Miss Helen Rose who acted as toastmistress was given. The introductions by the young toastmistress showed her marked ability along this line. Special numbers which were appreciated by all were as follows: Readings by Mrs. Ed Cummings, Misses Emma Newman and Rilla West. Vocal numbers by Misses Emma Newman and Ethelyn Schreck and Glenn Richard; piano solo by Miss Anna Oiska. Short speeches were given by Miss Gladys Newman, Messrs. O. E. Strook, Fred Kraier and the pastor. Thanks were extended to the various committees for the fine appropriate decorations, catering and well arranged program. This banquet was given in honor of the new members who were received into the league during the last few months.

Young Married Folks Meeting

The young married folks of the Presbyterian church were delightfully entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Arnold on North Galena avenue. A picnic supper was the feature of the first part of the evening. St. Patrick's decorations being very pretty, the dining table being most attractive with green candles and favors and sweet peas. There were twenty-four guests present. After supper various games were enjoyed, and later Mrs. I. B. Potter and Mrs. Phil Raymond gave much pleasure to all in the singing of beautiful Irish melodies. Such a happy evening was spent, it was decided to hold these gatherings often.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY.

BREAKFAST—Bananas, cereal with cream, tomato omelet, crisp graham toast, milk coffee.

LUNCHEON—Casserole of macaroni and round steak, brown bread, jellied apples with whipped cream, milk, tea.

DINNER—Stew of mutton with vegetables and rice, curly endive with bacon dressing, rice bread, canned peaches, spice cake, milk, coffee.

The stew of mutton with vegetables is ideal for the fireless cooker and in lieu of the fireless a large double boiler can be used. The whole meal is planned for the convenience of the cook after an afternoon "out." If she washes her endive in the morning and puts it in a tightly covered ball her only work at dinner time is to make the bacon dressing, set the table and serve the meal.

Tomato Omelet.
Four eggs, 12 teaspoon salt, 4 ta. heaping water, 12 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 12 cup hot tomato puree.

Beat yolks of eggs with salt and pepper until thick, gradually add hot water, beating until mixture is thick. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold into yolks. Melt butter in frying pan turning pan to completely coat with butter. The pan should be hot but not hot enough to discolor the butter. Pour omelet mixture into pan and cook over a moderate fire for eight minutes. Place in hot oven for two minutes. When firm to the touch the omelet is done. Spread over top of omelet hot tomato puree, well seasoned and rubbed through a strainer. Fold omelet and serve at once.

Mission Triangle Club Meeting

The Mission Triangle Club of the Christian church had their monthly meeting last evening with Margaret Cleaver, on Brinton avenue. The "Round-the-World Tour" travel study of mission stations found the club on "the roof of the world," in their program on the country of Tibet. Dr. Sheldon's dramatic labors there, and tragic death won the world's attention to this strange, far-away land, which is gradually opening to Christian truth.

In the re-organization of the Triangle Club, under the new leadership of Mrs. J. E. Reagan as Advisor, Geraldine Reynolds was chosen last night as Secretary, and Olive Palmer as Treasurer. Dorothy Boyce continued as President, and Margaret Cleaver was selected as Correspondent.

The April meeting will be with Ethel Detweiler, and the "World Tour" will stop then at the Philippine Islands.

P. N. G. Club Held Pleasant Meeting

The P. N. G. club held a very pleasant and well attended meeting yesterday afternoon in I. O. O. F. hall with a delicious supper served at 6:30. Much sewing was done in the afternoon. Potted plants and sham rocks decorated the supper tables. In the evening a business meeting was held and a social hour enjoyed. The quilt was awarded to Mrs. Jessie Burtsfield.

MOTHERS Do They Envy Their Free Sisters?

By Olive Roberts Barton

Poets rush in where angels fear to tread!

But once again I have been asked to write a word of encouragement to the intelligent cultured woman, the thoughtful, sensible woman, about having nothing of the sort—these are so happy as is! Strong women these!

RICH, BUT—

The highest salaried woman in our business world, they say, is Blanche R. Green, who earned $100,000 last year. But to Mrs. Green, her business experience has been just a necessity. She says she never wanted to work and never would if a sick husband and little children hadn't made it necessary. She says that she would have been a much happier woman if fate had permitted her to carry on as wife and mother in an ordinary little home. This outburst from one who knows both sides of the "marriage or career" question should cheer our many depressed housewives who envy their business sisters.

OLD MAID TAFFY

Here's a gum-dro to help the spinster's day. Some female savant proclaims that unmarried women write the best literature. And widows write the second best. She explains that women with husbands are afraid to write what they really think about life, marriage and life!

I've a sneaking suspicion there may be something in it. Let's see, how many of the following are spinsters or widowed? Willa Cather, Edith Wharton, Rebecca West, Sheila Kaye-Smith, Eleanor Wylie, Anne Parrish, Ruth Suckow? More than 75 per cent of 'em!

TWO LADIES SPEAK

How much shall it profit a girl to be picked as America's Most Beautiful girl at the annual Atlantic City pageant of beauty? Miss Norma Shawcross, 1926's prize beauty, says that her title has earned her $100,000 within the past six months, merely for recommending lingerie, hair nets, tooth paste, face creams, automobiles, hose, and what have you.

WHAT PRICE BEAUTY?

How much shall it profit a girl to be picked as America's Most Beautiful girl at the annual Atlantic City pageant of beauty? Miss Norma Shawcross, 1926's prize beauty, says that her title has earned her $100,000 within the past six months, merely for recommending lingerie, hair nets, tooth paste, face creams, automobiles, hose, and what have you.

WOMAN SPEAK

Two hucous looking young women speak their tupeuce worth about the to-do about recently censored plays of Broadway. Mae West, author and leading lady of the raucous play, "Kick," remarks that "what-ever it is fit meat for the theater." Dorothy Hall, leading lady of "The Virgin Man," thinks this way: "Many things are true which are not entertaining." I agree with the last lady.

HERE COMES AN OLD MAN WHO

Here comes an old man who "talks about the other side of his mouth" than most of them. He says that the can opening, delicatessen wife is why there are fewer divorces than there are, rather than why there are so many. He is Thomas Rioridan, senior exemplification clerk of the probatory office in Philadelphia, whatever that all means. He says: "The new economic order which allows a woman to work outside the home even though married, and so provides her with economic freedom, is cutting the divorce rate."

SEEKS HANGING LAW

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Five necks will snap within a few seconds of one another, if State's Attorney John of Will county can prove that the escape of the three McMan convicts last Saturday automatically cancelled their appeal and allowed the state to hang them. If there is such a law on the books, Attorney Fehn will know about it. He is searching for it. If there is, they will hang, he declared.

If the attorney is successful, Red Duschowski, Walter Stlesky and Charles Schader will swing. Bernardo Torrez, Gregorio Tizon, Charles de Roa, the third man to escape still is at large. The men were found guilty last July of the murder of Deputy Warden Klein.

WINGERT PROVES AUTHORITY CONCERNING RIVER

But Rock River was wide and in flood very turbulent and did not accept its fetters with complacency, and for many decades the history of our early bridges is one repeated disaster. This first bridge had hardly been opened to traffic when on March 20, 1847 a freshet had taken out of its entire north half of it. Like all of its successors until the Galena Avenue bridge were built it was only a plank road on trestles with no stone piers. During the summer following the Company rebuilt the bridge two feet higher and at a cost of $2000. But again in the spring of 1849 the south half of the bridge was carried away by the ice and was not repaired until in the summer of 1851.

In May, 1850, the Directorate of the Company was composed of John Dement, C. Aldridge, John V. Eustace, afterwards a distinguished Civil Engineer of this Circuit, Cleon Bayley, I. S. Boardman, Lorenzo Wood and E. B. Baker.

In rebuilding the bridge in 1851 the south half was made four feet higher than the north half, and thus six feet higher than the original bridge.

On June 12, 1855 the bridge, which had theretofore been a toll bridge, was made free for foot passengers only.

But in the meantime the Illinois Central Railroad had been constructed near Dixon. It had been in course of building for several years and it was noted that on March 30, 1853 a strike of the laborers occurred, with plenty of small rows and knock downs.

On January 2, 1855, the first train over the new line came whistling noisily into Dixon and it is recorded that the residents of North Dixon were much frightened thereby.

Of course the new railroad required a bridge, which was first constructed of wood and the first train crossed it February 5, 1855. Until that time passengers were transferred by boat and regular service by train to Galena had existed for a few weeks, or from January 15th.

Only a few days later, that is on Feb. 12, 1855, trains also began to run through Dixon on the "Galena & Chicago Union Air Line," now known as the Chicago & Northwestern Railway. Thus Dixon, in almost a week was offered transportation by two great railway systems, one bisecting the State from north to south, the other crossing it from Chicago westward, illustrating how naturally railroads followed the ancient lines of travel.

The presence of these two

THE FRONTIER COMES BACK.

We thought we had lost the brave, romantic old west; we thought the untamed frontier had gone the way of the wild buffalo and the scalp-lifting Comanche. But it seems we were mistaken.

They have found gold again in Nevada. Let us be thankful.

Our life has grown standardized and monotonous. We turn to the movies and to books for our thrills; we enshrine saloon city gunmen in the niches formerly occupied by such open-air desperadoes as the James brothers; we know no adventure higher than talking back to a traffic cop.

But suddenly, unexpectedly, comes a new gold rush—and, of all places, in Nevada!

Probably most of us won't be able to go prospecting. We must continue to work at the old task for the weekly pay envelope. But we hope, with a fervent hope, that this new strike does not fizzle out; that vast veins of ore are discovered; that shaggy, penniless prospectors grow rich over night; that mining camps spring up in profusion, filled with brawny young men and with old-timers who can remember mining camps of long ago.

And we hope that these mining camps are as wild as unrestrained as they were in the days of yore. Let there be unpainted dance halls and—say it softly—rough bar rooms, and two-gun men, and shootings, and vigilance committees and all the rest.

All of this, of course, will be rather rough on those luckless folk who get shot by the two-gun men or fleeced by the "gambling hells" or robbed by the mustachioed desperadoes or blinded by bootleg liquor. That can't be helped. We have no pity in our hearts today.

We want to see—and read about—action; real, old-time, wild-western, mining camp action. We want to know that, for all the settled regularity of our well-policed cities, there is still a place in this country where gold is being dug amid scenes of abandon and carnage.

If this gold rush were in Illinois, say, or Vermont, it wouldn't affect us this way. But it is in Nevada! Nevada—where the limitless, sage-brush plains lie open to the everlasting sunlight, with distant mountain peaks shining on the far horizons and with a tang in the clear air that speaks of ternal youth reborn to an untrammelled heritage!

Let the gold rush go on! This standardized country needs it sorely.

YOUTH'S REAL FAULT.

The Rev. Charles W. Fisher, Presbyterian pastor at Indiana University, doesn't think that our college youth is as wild and immoral as it is painted. The revolt of youth, he says, is pretty mythical.

But he does voice a criticism of the younger generation, and it's worth listening to.

The defect of our college young people, he says, is their materialistic attitude toward life. All too many of them are content to waste their opportunities in college; indeed, says this pastor, there is often more hope for a young man who gets drunk and is expelled than for the student who slides along, grows lazy and gives no heed at all to spiritual values.

It seems to us that the Rev. Fisher has put his finger on a point that needs to be stressed. Youthful wildness can be, and is, outgrown; easy-going materialism often is not. And it's much more dangerous.

CHINESE JUNK.

There's war in China over the foreign concessions. The Chinese are a patient people, but when the British introduced those wide pants there was bound to be trouble. . . . In China they do everything backward. That's why they're so good at reversing the English. . . . Anyhow we hope the trouble ends before any more generals get into it. We've learned about all the names we can stand. . . . The Jewish people should quit going back to Palestine and settle in China instead. They ought to do well where there are so many old Chinese junks.

"SEE THE WORLD."

The United States navy, it is announced, is making such good use of motion pictures at sea that it now has 1200 complete eight-reel programs in duplicate, with almost 3800 reels of short subjects, comedies and so on.

Even big feature films are released to the navy as soon as they are sent to big theaters ashore. They pass about from ship to ship and then go to all short naval stations.

The moon doesn't control the weather, says an eastern scientist. Maybe the moon isn't silly enough for that job.

Men are offered the course in household science at Vassar College. The ladies must be getting ready to grant the males equal rights.

It's a good way to keep the bluejackets contended and happy. Also, perhaps, it lends a new meaning to that slogan, "Join the navy and see the world."

Perhaps you'll never see a headline like this in a newspaper, so here it is: "Germany Sends Dawes Loving Cup."

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tinymites enjoyed their meal, and Clowdy said, "Well, now I feel like taking quite a cozy nap, out there beneath the sun." The man who'd fed them laughed aloud and then replied to all the crowd. "Tis better, after eating, if you exercise, and run."

So, all the bunch jumped up to play, but Clowdy found a pile of hay and said, "I'll just flop down a while. I'm much too tired to stand. I think right here's where I belong. Now, please don't let me sleep too long."

And, as he stopped his talking, he was lost in slumberland. The rest played round an hour or two, and then the first thing that they knew, they, one by one, began to feel their eyes grow very weak. At first it started quite a faint. Then Clowdy said, "Why, what ails us is that we've simply grown too tired. A nap we'd better sneak."

They joined poor Clowdy in the hay just at the end of this bright day, and everybody slept real sound until the break of dawn. When morning came they all arose and quickly dusted off their clothes. They stopped to think Tom's father, then the Tinymites were gone.

They walked along the road 'till noon. "Twas day, of course, but even so, the moon was in the sky. Their eyesight had to be real keen, or else the moon could not be seen. It's often faint in daytime, but you'll see it if you try."

And then they came upon a cat. He had a feline and he sat a-playing funny music while the queer crew did her trick. And then wee Scouty stopped to shout, "This cow and cat we've read about, in Mother Goose's Nursery Rhymes. I think them very sick."

(The Tinymites see the d'sh running away with the spoon in the next story.)

that he do everything in his power to remove the stigma of murder from the family of the girl he intends to marry."

Bo's face flushed a dark, angry red and a moment later he was suffocatingly afraid that he would rise to his feet and denounce the motives of the hypocritical district attorney. Her tight clasp on his hand held him down. The bad moment passed, as Banning swept on into a deadly logical, blackly convincing summing up of testimony which he expected to present to the jury.

"You may say, gentlemen of the jury, that all this evidence is purely circumstantial. I say to you that such circumstantial evidence, building as it does, a complete chain without a single weak link, is the strongest of evidence. I will show you how this defendant had one of the oldest motives known to courts of justice—that of greed. By the terms of his will, Ralph Cluny had made this defendant an heiress, whether she married him or not before nine o'clock of Thanksgiving Day. I have also, clearly demonstrated and will prove by witnesses and documents that this defendant was actuated by another powerful motive—her love for another man."

"Who would be able to say which motive actually supplied the force behind the terrific blow which crushed the skull of the man who had loved her and honored her above all other women? I have also demonstrated that, so far as my office—disinterestedly working in the cause of justice—can discover, this defendant had what the law aptly terms exclusive opportunity to commit the murder with which she stands charged, and of which I believe her to be guilty. If I did not so believe, I would not prosecute this defendant."

Again Banning threw a would-be sympathetic glance toward Cherry, who stared at him unblinkingly.

"Now, that is the evidence, gentlemen. It will be elaborated upon by these witnesses, and I am sure after you have heard the defense, you will be justified in carrying out what this grand jury saw fit to do to affirm their indictment by pronouncing Cherry Lane Wiley guilty of murder in the first degree."

Tom Banning sat down, mopping his perspiring face with a huge white handkerchief, and Stephen Churchill rose to address the court, in a routine appeal for the dismissal of the indictment.

As Banning smilingly accepted the congratulations of his assistant, Faith knew for the first time in her life the bitterness of a hatred that lasts for the blood of an enemy.

TOMORROW: Banning brings out the fact that Bob Hathaway was once engaged to Cherry.

ROCKFORD AND MOLINE WIN IN OPENING GAMES

Elburn Gave Monline a Hard Battle: Mt. Morris Failed

Local basketball fans who witnessed last evening's games in the sectional high school meet now in progress at the Sterling high school gymnasium, were afforded a rare treat. It was a hard fight in both games. Mt. Morris went down in defeat before the Rockford five by a score of 18 to 12.

The Moline-Elburn game, the second of the evening was thriller from the start and two extra periods were necessary to decide the winner. When time was called the score was tied at 24 points each. In the first allotment of extra time, each team scored a field basket and tied the count at 28 all. Another special time was allowed and this time Moline was able to sink a basket from a long shot and Elburn was not so fortunate, the game ending with the score standing 30 to 28 in Moline's favor.

Sterling will meet the LaSalle-Perry team in the first game at 8:15 this evening and Moline will clash with Rockford immediately following.

St. Patrick's Day Bad for Teams Bearing Name

Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—St. Xavier High of Louisville, Ky., winner of the 1926 Catholic national high school basketball tournament, has successfully negotiated the first hurdle in its race for the 1927 title at Loyola University, defeating St. Joseph of Pittsfield, 26-20.

Tradition was given a terrible wallop on St. Patrick's Day when three schools named for the Irish Patron Saint went down to overwhelming defeat. Two one point victories were scored in the first round yesterday.

Cathedral High, Wichita, Kas., defeated St. Peter, New Brunswick, N. J., 26-25 and Catholic High, Washington, Ind., went into the second round by beating Campion Academy, Prairie du Chien, Wis., 23-22.

Cardinals Expect to Repeat: Manager is Not Dismayed

BY BRYAN BELL
Avon Park, Fla., Mar. 18—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are champions of the world and proud of it. They seem confident they will repeat. The new manager, Bob O'Farrell, said "I think it's safe to expect our club to be among the leaders all the way."

The club has lost its manager and second baseman, found a manager in the ranks and bought a second baseman from another club. An experienced pitcher and catcher have been added and two new outfielders who can hit are seeking a chance to prove it.

The Boston Red Sox have won three straight exhibition games. They beat the Pelicans at New Orleans yesterday, 7-2. Jack Olson ripped off two doubles and a single.

Manager Moriarty of the Tigers is in a position this year to emulate Hugh Jennings feat of 20 years ago in lifting the team out of the sloughs to a pennant. Baseball fans are speculating as to whether Moriarty can succeed in leading the squad to heights by his system of applying velvet where Cobb failed with sand paper.

High Spirits reigned among the Cardinals for two reasons: Tom Thoenow, shortstop and one of two holdouts, is back in the fold and they shut out the Giants yesterday, 3-0.

Manager Bush plans to take the Pirates from their training camp at Paso Robles to San Francisco late today for exhibition games beginning tomorrow.

Smarting under two defeats earlier this season, the Washington Senators are out today for revenge in the opener of another two day meeting with the New York Giants at Tampa.

Scarcity of pitchers is hampering the Philadelphia Nationals. Four are one the sick list or injured list and several others are not far enough advanced to work in a regular contest.

Yesterday the Athletics were defeated by the Boston Nationals 13-5 in a 7 inning contest at St. Petersburg after the first game had been forfeited to the Braves by Umpire Wilson of the National League when Ty Cobb and Kid Gleason refused to leave the field when ordered by him to do so. Wilson left the American League after a mix up with the former Detroit manager in 1921. President Ban Johnson having decided that the umpire was wrong.

TAYLOR TO STAKE TITLE IN FIGHT IN CHICAGO SOON

Will Meet Canzonori Saturday Evening, March 26th

Chicago, March 18—Bud Taylor, bantamweight champion of the world, will defend his title at the Coliseum here, Saturday night, March 26th against Tony Canzonori of New York, his outstanding challenger. The bout will be a ten rounder to a decision and the weight will be the bantamweight limit of 118 pounds.

Jim Mullen, Chicago's leading promoter will stage the show and is giving the principals the largest guarantee ever paid for a bantam championship fight in the history of fistiana.

Jim Mullen scored a ten strike in landing the Taylor-Canzonori battle. Tex Rickard offered $100,000 for this bout but Mullen outbid him and will give middle west fight fans the chance to see Bud Taylor in his first defense of his bantam crown against one of the best bantams of the present generation.

Canzonori is the logical contender for the title having decisively licked Gushey Graham at Madison Square Garden and removing the outstanding challenger. Tony's work was the principal event of 1926 among the ranks of the little fellows and stamped him as one of the greatest fighters in the game.

Kenosha Only Midwest Team Left in Tourney
Kansas City, Mar. 18—(AP)—Unusually close guarding coupled with a baffling series of well timed formations, carried the Ke-Nash-A, Kenosha, Wis., basketball team into the semi-finals of the National A. A. U. tournament here today. The Badger five was the only midwestern quintet remaining from the field of 53 squads.

Flashes of Life

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Syracuse—When it comes to horse flesh, A. E. Hopkins seems dumb. Like David Harbun. He bought a colt three years ago in New York for $21. The seller thought the horse was a joke. Hopkins sent the animal to Lexington for sale. J. J. Collins of Boston bought him for $5250.

Albany, Ga.—This is the safest place in the country so far as fires are concerned. It's loss last year was only forty cents per capita and it won the grand prize awarded by the National Fire Waste Council.

New York—In an effort to revive the "Morbund" spoken drama, Mrs. Plske and Margaret Anglin will tour the country next season together and present the best plays in the best manner with art and good taste and without being highbrow or lowbrow.

New York—Two private cars are taking Gloria Swanson to Hollywood for a year's stay at making cheik movies. One car is for her, the Marquis and party; the other for baggage.

Atlanta—What have Bobby Jones and Rabbi Wise of New York in common? Answer: They were born on St. Patrick's Day.

North Hampton, Mass.—Smith College has taken to roller skates. Girls sporting the latest in spring togs are rolling about the paved campus roads and through the city streets. Stores are all out of skates.

Being Intimate Stories of the Woman's Side of Official Life in the Capital

CHAPTER XI
Washington—"The president of the United States will be here at 8 o'clock tomorrow night."

The word goes forth through the big hotels of the capital city. Perhaps it is a cabinet dinner given by a member of portfolio who either lives in a hotel suite without kitchen and servant staff, or whose good lady, feeling utterly unable to come with the job of feeding the president from her own kitchen, prefers to fete him outside.

Anyway, the president is coming. Washington hotels do not get unduly flustered because they are constantly prepared for this emergency. It's just part of their job. Most of them have dining presidents throughout many generations.

The Secret Service
They know the party must be held in a private room. They know that the secret service will call that day to inspect seating arrangements and all entrances and exits.

The president may not sit with his back to any door or window. If he is dining in a private suite, the secret service men find out the family lineage of the families living next door and above and below.

The secret service men are given a list of every member of the staff who will serve the president—the doormen, the hat boys, the waiters.

When the presidential car leaves the White House the manager of the hotel is called by phone. He lines up

LION GOES VISITING
Bourges, France—Finding the door of his cage open, a menagerie lion stepped into the open and began to make the rounds of the village. His last stop was at Mme. Cotineau's bakery. There he jumped upon the counter and sampled all the pastries. Next he decided to visit M. Cotineau, who was still in bed. The startled Frenchman leaped through the window just as the lion tamer arrived and led the jungle king back to his cage.

EXPECT BATTLE AMONG BOWLERS AT PEORIA MEET

Right of Congress to Define Status Will be Controversy

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 18.—(AP)—Delegates from practically every center of the American Bowling Congress in the mid-west as well as from many eastern cities, gathered here today to participate in what promises to be the warmest annual session ever held by the congress. Determined efforts of promoters of the world's classic tournament to be held in Detroit starting April 9 to squelch attempts of the A. B. C. officials to outlaw bowlers who take part in the world's classic will result in a bitter fight, it is predicted, over the right of the congress to define the amateur status of bowlers throughout the country. Louis Peterson of Chicago, president of the world's classic, will lead the fight against adoption of regulations which would disqualify competitors from further participation in American Bowling Congress tournaments. While Newark, N. J., is said to be angling for the next tournament, general opinion today is that either Kansas City or Detroit will win the right to stage the affair. The bowling congress has never gone west of the Mississippi river. The Guarantee Fund Life Insurance five of Omaha went into fifth place among the five men rollers last night with a total of 2397.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation. Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Good Thoughts for Good People

Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men. —Paul

To be honest, to be kind; to earn a little and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence; to renounce when that shall be necessary, and not to be embittered; to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation; above all, on the same given condition, to keep friends with himself, here is a task for all that man has of fortitude and delicacy.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

No man is more cheated than the selfish man.—Henry Ward Beecher.

For we must share, if we would keep that blessing from above; Ceasing to give, we cease to have, Such is the law of love.

—Richard C. Trench.

Everywhere in life, the true question is not what we gain, but what we do.

So great is the human desire to be always gaining something, especially for nothing, that the temptation to gain at the expense of others too often seems to hold sway. When, however, humanity learns more of the divine nature, learns that the immutable spiritual laws govern every phase of real existence, it will understand that only as it gains through blessing others can the achievement be progressive and lasting.

—The Christian Science Monitor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH AMBOY

Among your friends and acquaintances is not the happy man, the man who is in right relations with God? Only as man makes room for God in the forefront of his life and keeps a vivid consciousness of Him is he able to resist evil, right wrong and be confident in the midst of trial and effective in the use of those forces that develop the best in him.

Why not come Wednesday? Will you be there?

Antiphon by the choir.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture-ization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly goes to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. He hears of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the Inn; and quarrels with his chums who think Sally is a gold-digger, like the rest.

As for Bob, much as he wanted to playfully mash the heads of his chums, Freddy and Arch, for their tormenting play upon words, he managed to restrain himself and merely laugh ruefully to Madame Leonine:

"Yes, that's it—I'm studying engineering in college. Learning about gold digging, and all that sort of thing."

The Madame, whose indignation at the near commotion caused by the quarrelling of the boys was allayed by the smug knowledge that in Bob she had struck a bonanza herself, indulgently permitted herself to be disarmed by the explanations. She even ventured a witticism of her own:

"I don't know much about what they can teach you in college, or how they teach it—but you'll pick up here quicker than in any classroom a practical and first-hand knowledge of gold digging—as she is dug!"

So the atmosphere, the tension, were cleared again.

And so Madame Leonine, like a motherly old buzzard, shooed her baby hawk to the door.

"There, Freddy—you go to Mrs. Hammond."

"Madame was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond."

Vanderweerd; she's smiling for you. And Arch, Mrs. Lady told me she wanted this dance with you. Mazie Revere has shaken her butter and egg man again in your favor for this dance, Bob. She's sure not a crush on you—and he's aching to crush you, only you're too big. Run along now!"

Dance, Dance, Dance. Shuffle, and slip, swirl and whirl, bend and slide—slide, slide! Light heads, and light feet. Lighter heads, as the moments wear on. Bobbing balloons in a synopacting maze. Music. Discardant—yet strangely rhythmic; unharmonious—yet strangely tuneful. Crash, tinkle, whine, whang. Faster—faster—hard breathing, perfumed perspiration, tense abandon. Passion's paradise. The dance!

Through all the madness, Bob Ward remained coolly detached—confidently impersonal. Much to the chagrin of Mazie Revere, who pressed her lithe body close to him; and adding to the animal fever in her blood the fuel of disappointment because she saw that he was smiling, every chance he got, toward Sally Smith, still on her patient rounds of those who sat and did their smoking with their mouths and not with their pulses.

Sally's smile found Bob's too, as often as Bob's found Sally's. Mazie noted that. Little enough that Mazie ever missed.

Then suddenly Mazie saw a chance to divert Bob's attention in another direction. If she could not win Bob's interest for herself, then as a loyal old friend and co-worker of Madame Leonine—with whom, indeed, she was in a sort of tacit partnership—she would sacrifice her own desires toward keeping Bob, the best bet the "Alisado Inn" had ever had, from wasting his obvious worth and talents on a nobody of a little cigarette girl. In good she would! And here was the chance, conveniently at hand.

A chance—a darn good chance—in the person of a newcomer. A newcomer whose advent seemed to send an inquisitive, curious, half-envious thrill through the crowd, surging dancers. An advent that certainly delivered a galvanic shock to the waiters, the attendants. To the orchestra, even, for the saxophonist suddenly seemed to puff and spit more enthusiastically; the drummer pounded more vigorously; the others, all and sundry, scraped and blew and whanged with greater gusto. The leader contorted and frenzied himself more signally.

All the paid help had great, wide covetous grins; the guests, admiring ones.

Madame Leonine's rouged mask was splintered in a grin that combined the greed and the admiration, as she made a ritualistic show of greeting the newcomer and personally escorting her to the choicest table—tactfully reserved for just this visitation! The fawning maitre hovered in the personage's wake. The dance, and the dancers, almost unconsciously slipped a measure.

It was Mazie, swinging fully into the dance again with Bob, who confirmed what Bob had guessed. She explained:

"That's Mrs. Hammond. She's famous around here. The Inn's best customer, you bet."

Mazie went on, in a rather awed voice, to whisper to Bob all the information that Freddy and Arch had previously told him.

Bob looked with frank interest upon Mrs. Hammond. He saw a positively ravishing creature, in her early thirties. All the encomiums that the boys had mouthed were true—and more! They had never seen so fair and resplendent a woman—in whom nature's lavish attributes of beauty were multiplied by the breeding and slight hauteur and elegance of manner of an aristocratic lady of fashion.

A lady, too—of passion! It was there—spiritually, in the dark depths of her slightly-veiled eyes; pathologically, in the sensitive nostrils, in the full, richly mobile underlip; in the mature mould of her gloriously statuesque body; and, lastly, in that surest of all marks of sensuality—a slight, very slight swelling where the ivory of her bosom melted into the velvet of her white throat; in other words, a somewhat abnormal prominence of her thyroid gland tract.

Bob was finding Mrs. Hammond a fascinating feast for eye and mind. He had neglected to glance at Sally again since the captivating newcomer had entered.

Mazie took shrewd stock of his astonishment.

"Stunning, isn't she, eh?"

Bob nodded. She was—all of that. Continuing to watch, covertly, of course, for even in a roadhouse Bob still bore carefully the responsibility to himself for his deportment as a gentleman—he saw Mrs. Hammond's eyes sweep the room, after she had given a cursory order to the obsequious maitre, who had personally gone to superintend its execution. The Madame was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond—in the manner of one breaking good news. It was because of whatever the Madame was explaining, that Mrs. Hammond's eyes searched out the dancers so quickly.

Sally was hovering near Mrs. Hammond's table. Bob saw that out of the corner of his eye. The next thing he knew Mrs. Hammond's eyes were resting full upon him—like twin searchlights of an acute and discriminating mind. A connoisseur in young man-flesh! A long, critical appraisal. Bob felt absurdly afraid. He felt as a shy young man might, who, in a nightmare, dreamed that he was in the center of Times Square of a Saturday afternoon in barefeet and pajamas.

He was uneasily provoked with himself for feeling so afraid. But try as he might he could not remain calmly impersonal, unaffected, under that ardent inspection. He was too young, too inexperienced in the ways of women and life.

Mrs. Hammond seemed to appreciatively deduct this last; for she suddenly smiled, with direct interest, upon Bob, and said a few genial words to the pleased Madame Leonine, who nodded.

This byplay, which he was by no means sophisticated enough to fully understand, upset Bob. Made him so nervous he trod upon Mazie's foot. But Mazie, knowing the whereof, did not wax wroth. Instead, she grinned, like an overwise Cheshire cat.

"Mr. Football Hero, if Mrs. Hammond falls for you—you're jake! She hasn't met anyone here yet that she liked more than two dances. Maybe you're just the Big Boy to fill the bill. Looks so, anyhow, from the way she's lamping you, and smiling; and from the way old Leo is smirking."

Bob was dreadfully fussed. He stammered: "Oh, you're all wrong if you think she's interested in me, or going to be."

"No I ain't! If she asks to meet you, make up to her stragg, Big Boy. She's got the niftiest love-nest apartment in New York waiting for the boy whom she falls for. So strut your stuff if you get the chance—and you will!"

Opportunity School Stands Monumental

Denver — Denver's Opportunity School stands as a monument to the lifetime effort of Miss Emily Griffith, whose work as an educator has carried her name abroad. The Opportunity School is a day and night school, where students ranging in age from 14 years "to a century, if they want to enroll," can learn those trades and professions not requiring a university education. The school is under the direct supervision of Miss Griffith, although it is a part of the school district. Here women may learn the rudiments of housekeeping, the intricacies of making hats or the re-vamping of faces, while men may study anything from the three "r's" to bricklaying and assembling a locomotive. The school has become so famous that Miss Griffith was requested by the British government to visit England and start a similar institution.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

GARRETT FOLSON is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J. It is believed that the death weapon was a pichan, an Oriental knife, and that it was purchased on the boardwalk.

Folson's bathing companions had been ROGER WATKINS, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNAVY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, takes command and it is established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. Sears admits having two knives but not the pichan.

A native son, engineer TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN FELTON Folson's nephew, arrives and is puzzled by the curious French dolls in his uncle's room.

Croydon Sears sends for FLEMING STONE, famous detective. He tells him Folson had been black-mailing him and he had lied at the inquest but was innocent. Stone meets others of the elite, including NED BARRON and his wife, MADELINE, who puzzles him.

ROBIN SEARS, son of Croydon, is surprised when Stone mentions the dolls Folson had owned, and Stone later discovers one doll in the image of Madeline Barron and learns that it was Folson's favorite doll. He finds out that Folson had returned to his hotel one certain night in a wheel chair and offers to pay money if the chair pusher is produced.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII

"I KNOW him," the man told Stone. "It was Bill Bramber."

"Can you take me to him—now?"

"Guess so—if you'll fix it with the boss."

Stone fixed it and they went forth.

His guide soon located Bill, who happened to be idle, and was by no means averse to telling anything he knew—for a consideration.

And he knew a lot.

"Yes, sir," he said, "I remember the matter well. You see, a lady was my passenger, a real swell one."

"Alone?"

"Yes, sir, all alone. Said she just wanted a breath of air and a little rest from folks, or simply like that. They often do that. Well, I rolled her along, and then a gentleman stopped me and he got in with the lady, and told me to roll on. As the lady made no objection, it was none of my business, so I pushed 'em down to the end of the route, and then turned back again. We'd nearly reached the Majusaca, when the gentleman calls out for me to stop, and then the lady got out and got into another chair, and he stayed in and I rolled him on to the hotel, and he got out there—at the Majusaca."

"You know who he was?"

"I didn't then, Mister, but next day, I found it was the very chap what was murdered in the ocean!"

"Why did you never tell this to anyone?"

"Nobody asked me anything about it, and I'd no reason to say anything. I couldn't see as it had any bearing on the murder and

COMPTON NEWS

The newly organized Golf club which has resumed the interest of the Country Side golf club, owned and operated for the past three years by Paul G. Fricke and D. C. Thompson, are leaving no stones unturned for making their new course one of the finest in this part of the state. A meeting of the new owners was held Monday evening and J. S. Archer was elected president, C. L. Ogilvie, secretary and treasurer. S. O. Arraves was chosen as manager. We can be assured of good playing conditions, as Mr. Arraves is a close student of the sport and understands what is needed on the greens to make the sport interesting. The board of owners include eight lively business men of our community and are out to make good the statement that:

"Compton is the smallest town in the state boasting of an up-to-date nine-hole golf course". Several out of town members have signed up again this year, which points towards another record membership.

Plans have been made to hold a golf picnic at the grounds early in April for members and their families. Men are now at work every day putting the grounds in shape for the opening date.

Although the club has changed hands, the former name for the club has been retained as "The Country-Side Golf Club."

Amund Birdal of Lee and Mrs. Ed. Haefner of West Brooklyn, who underwent operations at the hospital last week have been removed to their homes.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Gardner Monday evening, a baby girl. Dr. Pool and Dr. Carnahan were professional callers at the Jake G. Jacobs home last week.

Jesse Donough and wife of Earlville are spending the week at their home here. They will make elaborate improvements on their new home here. An addition will be made onto the house with a sun-parlor and the entire house will be refitted with modern improvements.

John H. Walter of near Mendota was transacting business here Monday of this week.

Last Tuesday evening plans were made to reorganize the local Boy Scout Troop, which has been inactive since the departure of Scoutmaster Fricke, early last fall. Under the reorganization, Walter Archer will become Scoutmaster and Don Archer will be assistant. Every boy of twelve years of age is urged to get in to this work, as this organization is purely sponsored for them. As soon as the Scoutmaster's credentials arrive from headquarters, weekly meetings will be held.

J. W. Banks, our supervisor, has been very busy this week in securing the right of way for the Meridian Highway through Brooklyn township. By this endeavor he has enough names attached to a bond of six thousand dollars to clear up all difficulties which may arise.—L. G. A.

State officers will attend and the district convention of the Auxiliaries will meet at the same time.

The thirteenth district is now leading the state in the membership drive and the Rochelle post has 100 members and the Auxiliary has 110.

George D. O'Brien is district commander. The placing of a Legion baseball team in the city twilight league was discussed. Memorial Day plans, the caravan to Elgin Soldier's Hospital, and the sponsoring of a benefit movie were considered by the Legion. Wiley Owen represents the Legion on the April social committee.

The Associated Contractors

ORGANIZATION AND PURPOSE

The Associated Building Contractors is an organization that has set for itself the highest standard that can be built upon a foundation of integrity, ability, experience and scientific management. It is an organization that requires of its members tangible evidence of unquestioned ability, integrity and sincerity—and it will accept as a member no contractor who cannot qualify as a capable builder beyond all question of doubt.

PLAY FAIR WITH THE PUBLIC

The Associated Building Contractors is the logical result of the trend of thought among modern business men that it pays to play the game fair and square. It is an embodiment of the modern business creed: — "LEGITIMATE AND PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS PEOPLE WILL PLAY FAIR WITH THE PUBLIC—AND THE OTHERS MUST."

A CIVIC ASSET

It is the purpose of this organization to establish its mark as standing for the highest and most efficient service and ability which every buyer has a right to expect, to the end that the public may realize in dealing with one of its members, every safe guard is taken to conserve their interests, and to hold the industry of building on the highest plane it is possible to place it.

CORRECTS WRONG PRACTICES

No structure can be thoroughly successful unless it embodies the four basic essentials—
GOOD DESIGN — RIGHT MATERIALS — EFFICIENT PLAN — SOUND CONSTRUCTION.
A factory, store or house may be elaborate or inexpensive. It may be attractively finished and may boast of every modern convenience, yet without these four cardinal essentials, it never can be a permanent, substantial, satisfactory building.

FOSTERS FAIR DEALING

Leaky roofs, bulging walls, squeaky stairs, sagging floors, cracked plaster, draughty and rattling windows and doors are facts—very unpleasant facts of all too frequent occurrence. Short life and quick depreciation, high repair cost and low resale values are largely the results of construction short cuts—short cuts which are eliminated by our members who are associated together to weed out these evils.

QUALIFIED BUILDERS

When you have new work of any kind, or in the repairing and maintaining of your present buildings, you are assured ABILITY — QUALITY — HONEST EFFORT by relying upon a contractor who is a member of this association.
